MRS. FANNIE K. ROACH'S INTERESTING WAR PAPER

Tells of the Part Bethel Female College Played During the Great Civil War—Read at the Reunion September 30—Personal Reminiscences.

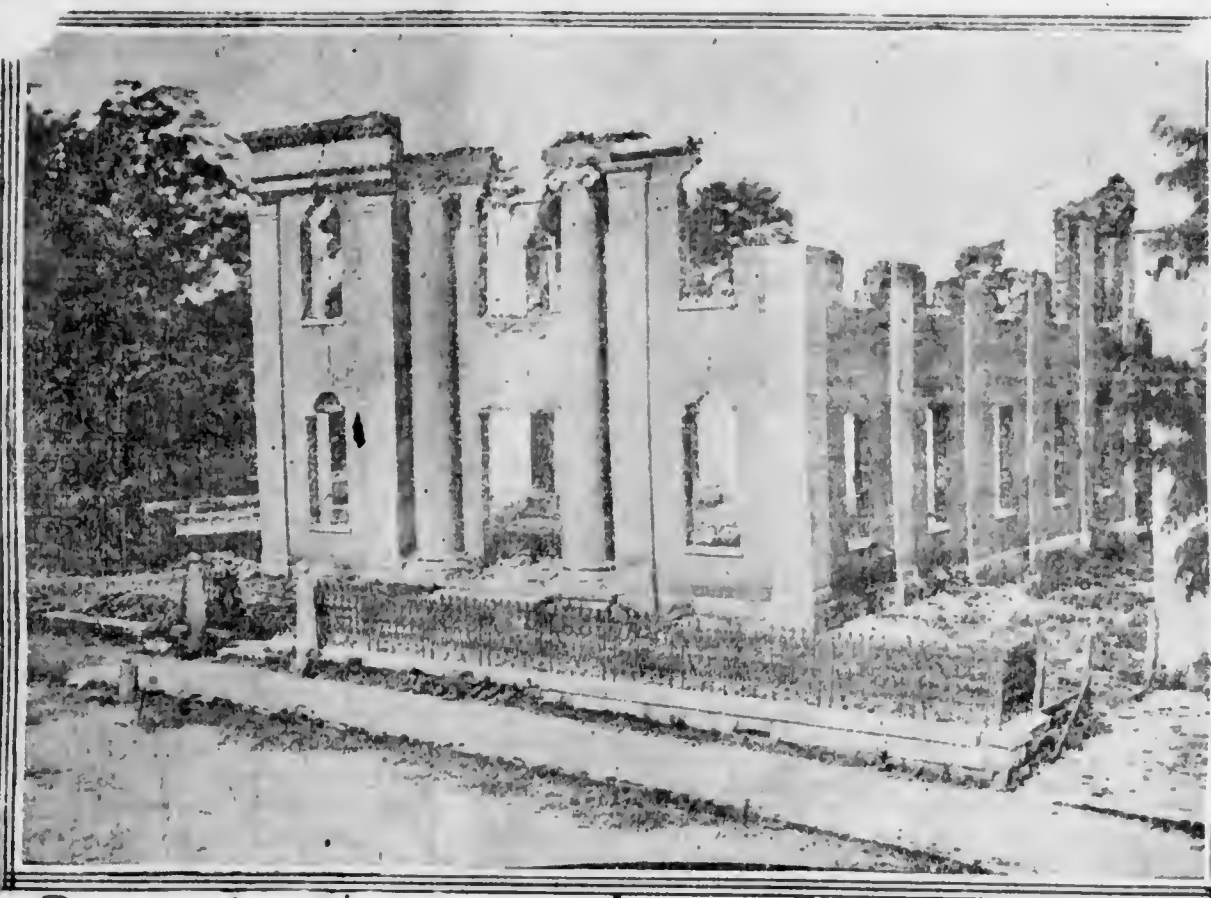

I have been asked to tell you some war reminiscences, though the time should be occupied in listening to the history of the development and growth of the school and not in reminiscences so personal.

I was never a student of Bethel College, but it was my home for two or three years. My father, Dr. Keen, reached Hopkinsville the very last of February, 1864, to become president of the College, and pastor of your church. We had a journey of many thrilling experiences, from Petersburg, Virginia to Hopkinsville.

The unsettled condition of the country, had caused the closing of

Our life was one of constant excitement. I often went down to breakfast and found the room filled with soldiers, loaded pistols in their belts, and guns across their laps, with orders to Mr. Waller to furnish them breakfast; they would sweep the larder clean, and we would have to wait for another meal to be prepared. This was one of the experiences of war.

Soon after I reached the college, Mr. Waller asked me to keep a package of valuable papers for him. He had heard of raiding parties, who were destroying every thing of value, belonging to those who sympathized with the opposing side. He thought the school, and the building had been used as a hospital for Union soldiers. Those having daughters to educate, were anxious to have the school reopened, as they were afraid to send them away from home, to attend school elsewhere, because of the troublous times. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Waller were living in the College and we boarded with them.

The school opened the middle of March, 1864, with very few day pupils, just to get the work started. Sweeter, lovelier scholars, never gathered in a school room, than those who attended that short spring term. There was Jule Ware, a lovely, pure character; sweet, gentle, Lucy Phelps; Sallie Cook and Maggie Henry, bright and jolly, life was to them a happy summer day. The beauties of the school, were Mary Phelps and Lizzie Gant. Annie Trice was the student of the school; her teachers loved to have her come to them, with her searching questions, and always perfectly prepared lessons.

There being no school in town for boys, a few were allowed to attend that spring term. Mr. Waller's dear little boys were there. I think little Bailey, learned his alphabet then. By the way, little Bailey used to walk and talk in his sleep; his mother and I have followed him over the college, when he was sound asleep, talking to him, and he talking to us, before she could finally get him to bed. Kerfoot Chinn and Frank Campbell, two of the most lovable little boys I ever knew, were there. The youngest pupil in school was Tom Buckner, a dear little fellow, who generally sat on my lap while plodding from A to Z. I wish I could mention each one, for they were so dear.

There being no advanced classes that could join, I taught the little tots, and read with my father.

The war reminiscences of my home life and experiences were so varied,

I would not be suspected of having them. Bustles were fashionable, so I arranged the papers in proper shape, covered them with cloth and tied them around my waist. The following season, bustles went out of fashion, and larger hoop skirts, that grew smaller at the waist line, became the vogue. Not wishing to be thought deformed, I hid my valuable bustle in the bottom of a packing trunk. The war closed the following spring, and soon afterwards, Mr. Waller moved from the college. One day I went to see Mrs. Waller and found her in bed, sick from worry, over Mr. Waller having lost a package of very valuable papers, that would probably cause him heavy losses. No doubt it seems strange to you, that we could either of us forget my having them, but remember the strain of excitement under which we lived. The wonder is that we had any memory at all. A few days afterward, I had occasion to look for something in that trunk, and found the valuable bustle. I never was so welcome a guest, as when I went to return the package.

During the winter of '64 and '65, I forget the exact date, General Lyon made his famous raid through Kentucky, burning court houses. When he reached Hopkinsville, my father pleaded with him to spare the one here, with its old papers, but he could not be moved from his purpose.

After the court house was burned, General Lyon went to Eddyville to visit his wife, leaving Col. Chenoweth in command. The officers established headquarters at Major John Campbell's, who was living at the old Jesup homestead, across from old Mrs. Glass. The officers confiscated the Phoenix Hotel, on Main street, procured a band, and issued invitations for a ball.

The Misses Leavell and I received a note from Mrs. Campbell, introducing Lieut. Chinn and vouching for him. He enclosed a note with

NATIONS OF LIARS

Everybody Is Still Claiming Victory In The Eastern and Western Battlefields.

ALLIES SEEM TO BE GAINING.

No Doubt That The Russians are More Than Holding Their Own.

London, Oct. 7.—The sixty-third day of the great European war saw a repetition of what the peoples of all the countries concerned have forced themselves to expect, perhaps for months to come—no decisive conflict on land or sea.

From Berlin to London came nothing in the way of German claims to progress or reverse. From Petrograd came what has flowed without interruption for weeks—consistent claims of progress for Russian arms.

From Paris, at the usual mid-afternoon hour, was issued the usual communication, so-called, interpreting the situation along the battle line of the western theater of war in the light of those opposing the German invasion. There were in the official statement, cryptic to a certain extent as always, hints of a greater diversity of operations than it usually contains.

From Belgium comes nothing to indicate any change in the situation before Antwerp except a brief line tucked at the bottom of the Paris official statement asserting that the German attacks along the line of the river Rupel and the river Nethe have failed.

The British press takes occasion to emphasize that, while the battle of the Aisne holds first claim in the matter of sentimental interest, the gigantic operations of the Russian, German and Austrian armies in the east may bring the solution of the war first.

Petrograd official statements continue to repeat in a general way what has been accepted here as a fact for days—that the German army along the East Prussian frontier has been routed more or less and cut to pieces—but as this is only a small portion of the front, it is exceedingly hard to get anything like a clear-cut perspective of the conflict. What purports to be an official dispatch from Vienna insists in broad terms that the condition of the German and Austrian armies, both in Poland and Galicia, is favorable, and that in attempting to break the Carpathians at Uzsoz Pass, the Russians have been beaten.

MELANCHOLY DAYS COME

And Ethan Sutton Saw Nothing In Life For Him.

TOOK HIS OWN LIFE.

Body Found Hanging In His Barn Near Crofton, Monday Night.

A young farmer named Ethan Sutton committed suicide at his home near Crofton Monday night, from despondency caused by financial matters and his poor crop prospects. He was moody at supper time and would not eat and while his wife and her brother went in to the table he disappeared from the porch. His brother-in-law went out to search for him and found his dead body hanging in the barn. He had fastened a rope to a tier pole and hanged himself. His feet touched the ground and there were signs of a struggle before he died. Mr. Sutton was 30 years old and leaves a widow and three small children.

Now that Col. George Harvey has made up and paid his respects to President Wilson, what's the matter with Marse Henry's doing the same thing? Let's make it unanimous, this time.

COLORED WIG FAD PASSING

Never Had Very Strong Hold in America, and Now It Has Virtually Disappeared.

The colored wig, launched in the spring at the French races by manikins from fashionable dressmaking establishments, has now been abandoned. Followed at first by a few actresses as an advertisement, the colored wig fashion was but feebly adopted by well-dressed women. At Newport it is doubtful whether one will see a single colored wig throughout the season.

"The failure of the colored wig," said a New York coiffeur, "is due to the fact that it is unbecoming. Purple, green or rose hair is a sore trial, indeed, for the average complexion. But the white wig, that is another matter. The white wig was very popular at Monte Carlo last winter, where it was worn for luncheon at Ciro's, for tea at the Hotel de Paris, for the Russian ballet at the Casino. It is now popular at Newport. Nothing could be prettier than a young girl's face framed in the soft white curls of these new white wigs. And when the eyes are large and dark and the complexion rosy the effect is a soft brilliance that is charming. Then, again, the white wig is popular with the woman whose hair is turning gray, anyway."

THEN HE SAID GOOD-BY

"Do you know, I—ah—ah—ah—I don't know why it is, but you make me think."

"Ah! then I have not lived in vain."

THING OF THE PAST.

Mme. Joire, the pilgrim to America from the noted house of Paquin, was describing in New York some very beautiful underwear.

"Beautiful underwear is essential today," she said. "The bodice and skirt are both diaphanous, you know."

With a smile and a shrug she added:

"The old definition of a good woman is no longer true. You can always tell a good woman" (so the old definition ran). "She wears such ugly underclothes."

LUCKILY HE WAS SAVED.

"You can't convince me," said the little man with the ragged trousers, "that you can bring up children right by talkin' to 'em and lettin' it go at that. You've got to use the rod, or you'll spoil the child. I used to get about three lickin's a day on the average."

"It doesn't seem to have done much for you," replied the lady with the protruding jaw.

"It done a lot for me. If they'd let me go my own way, I might almost have been a failure in life."—Judge.

CLAIMS BIG DISCOVERY.

Prof. T. J. J. Sec, relative naval captain in the United States mathematical corps, believes that he has discovered the hitherto unknown cause of gravitation. The professor is in the government service, being mathematician and astronomer in charge of the naval observatory at Mare Island, Cal.

INTERROGATIONS.

"A boy asks a wonderful lot of questions."

"Yes, replied Mr. Growcher. "He gets over it as he grows older, until he doesn't ask much of anything except 'What's the score?'"

ITS STATUS.

"An orator opposed to suffrage can never end his speeches successfully."

"Why not?"

"Because the end, no matter how thrilling, is bound to be an anti-climax."

One of, Borghuni, Mrs. W. H. Hill, Medications, Mrs. J. W. Anderson.

Kansas Woman Helpless.

Lawrence, Kan.—Mr. J. F. Stone, of this city, says: "My wife suffered for ten years from womanly troubles, during two years of which she was totally helpless. She was examined by many physicians, some of whom gave her up to die. Finally she began to take Cardui, and since then has greatly improved in health. The tonic, strengthening, and restorative effects of Cardui, the woman's tonic on the womanly constitution, are the most valuable qualities of this popular medicine. Cardui acts specifically on the womanly constitution. Half a century of success proves that Cardui will do all that is claimed for it. Try it for your troubles. Advertisement.

Word Origins.

"Take no thought for the morrow" is now understood in an entirely different manner from that in which it was intended when the King James version was prepared. Then the expression "to take thought" was universal as a synonym for anxious solicitude. Tabby, the name of a well-known species of cat, was formerly atabi, which was a term used to designate a peculiar pattern in the silks manufactured in Persia. The markings in the fur of the cat resemble the pattern in the silk, hence the double application of the name. Jovial once meant the type of character supposed to belong to all persons who were born when the planet Jupiter, or Jove, was in the ascendant. They were supposed to possess more of the cheerful elements of character than others, and hence to partake of the benign qualities attributed to the Father of the Gods.

A Daily Bath for the Eye.

A daily "eye bath" is an excellent means of preserving the sight and beauty of the eyes, and is particularly valuable for persons who motor a good deal, for nothing is more injurious to eyes than frequent contact with dust. Dissolve one teaspoonful of boracic acid powder in one pint of rose-water. Every night pour some of the lotion into a glass eyebath, add enough hot water to render it tepid, and bathe each eye in turn by opening and shutting it in the lotion.

BOARD OF EDUCATION UPHELD

Supreme Court of North Dakota Puts Indorsement on Enforced Physical Examination.

A decision upholding health regulations laid down by a city board of education is made by the supreme court of North Dakota in Streich vs. Board of Education, involving the power of the board to require pupils to bring to school a physical report based on an examination by a physician furnished by the board or at the option of the parents. It was conceded that the regulation had improved the health of the children and had prevented the outbreak in the schools of epidemics which were prevalent in the city and had been in the schools in former years.

The court held that the regulation in question was not invalid as constituting an unwarrantable violation of a personal right, especially as it was not shown that the required examination by a physician would necessarily entail any exposure of the person or manipulation of the body such as would shock the sensibilities of a refined person. It was further expressly decided that a physical examination was not objectionable because likely to result in disease through "mental suggestion" of disease.

MUST BID HIGH

"And what did you tell George when he asked you if you'd like him as a brother-in-law?"

"I told him that I'd think it over, but I had several others in mind, also."

GENERAL THOMAS.

He was tall, broad, solidly built, with firm, square shoulders and a full-bearded face as firm and square as the shoulders were. Some say that the expression was stern, some say kind and gentle. Probably it could be either according to circumstances; and I delight in Garfield's comment on the eyes—"cold gray to his enemies, but warm blue to his friends." Equally enthusiastic is Howard's denial of the charge of coldness and severity. "To me General Thomas' features never seemed cold. His smile of welcome was pleasant and most cordial. His words and acts drew toward him my whole heart, particularly when I went into battle under him. And this is the impression that I got most of Thomas as a battle leader, one of immense comfort. Others may have been more showy, even more inspiring. To fight under Thomas was like having a wall at your back or a great battery to cover you."—Gamaliel Bradford, in the Atlantic.

UP AGAINST IT.

"Tough neighborhood I live in. People steal everything I leave in my shed."

"Why don't you put a padlock on the door?"

"I put on a fine one and somebody got it the first night."

HE KNEW.

"You say you applied to the manager of that beauty show to give you a benefit."

"Yes."

"Then he certainly ought to do the handsome thing."

FACIAL EXPRESSION.

"Doesn't the baby look like its father?" exclaimed the admiring relative.

"Sometimes," replied the nurse. "Especially when it has a touch of the colic."

QUITE BY ACCIDENT.

Humanitarian.

At an evening party a very elderly lady was dancing with a young partner.
A stranger approached Douglas Jerrold, who was looking on, and said:
"Pray, sir, can you tell me who is the young gentleman dancing with that elderly lady?" "One of the humane society, I should judge," replied Jer-

Mrs. Felt Like Crying.

Wallace, Va.—Mrs. Mary Vest, of this place says: "I hadn't been very well for three years, and at last was taken bad. I could not stand on my feet, I had such pains. I ached all over. I felt like crying all the time.
Mother insisted on my trying Cardui.
Now I feel well, and do nearly all my housework." No medicine for weak and ailing women, has been so successful as Cardui. It goes to the spot relieving pain and distress, and building up womanly strength, in a way that will surely please you.

Fortunate Cripple Dog.

Generally when a dog or other animal meets with an accident someone shoots it in order to put it out of misery. There is a crippled dog in Vienna which, although it has had the misfortune to lose its hind limbs in a street accident, has yet been "patched up" so that it can run about the streets of the city. The dog's mistress, much attached to her pet, had a little cart made upon which the dog rests his body, and then, harnessed to the shafts of the vehicle, he is able to "take his walks abroad" by trundling himself about by his forelegs in his little cart. He is quite a well-known figure in Vienna's streets, and many of the people have a kind word and a pat on the head ready for this most fortunate of unfortunate crippled animals.

IN THE SHOW THERE WERE 1,500 FOWLS AND PIGEONS, REPRESENTING SEVERAL STATES AND IT TOOK GOOD ONES TO WIN.

No Department of the Pennyroyal Fair scored a more pronounced success than the Poultry show. With R. D. Hill as Superintendent and Dr. C. H. Tandy, J. W. Stowe and Rev. T. D. Moore a committee in charge, the show was cooped better, displayed better and the exhibit presented better than ever before. Judge H. A. TREATED 500 TREES

F. N. Downer Has Finished His Work In Tree Surgery Here.

Mr. F. N. Downer, who spent two months in the work of "tree surgery" in and about the city, has completed his orders here and will go to Henderson this week.

Mr. Downer worked on about 500 trees on the streets, in the cemetery and in private lawns and everywhere did his work in a highly satisfactory manner. His method is to have all dead wood removed by capable workmen, all cavities cleaned out and filled with cement, and any defects attended to in a most scientific manner. Mr. Downer is an experienced nurseryman and understood every detail of the business.

His foreman holds a certificate of graduation in the Davis Institute for training men in tree surgery, and has done work in New York and other states.

PURELY PERSONAL.

Miss Brenda Neblett has gone to Fulton, Ky., to spend the winter with relatives.

Mrs. Mary B. Campbell, of Winchester, Va., is visiting Mrs. H. D. Wallace.

Supreme Representative J. H. Henry, Grand Master-At-Arms Lucian H. Davis, and Representatives Allen Brame, Jas. R. Fears and Geo. W. Walker, of Evergreen Lodge, are attending the Grand Lodge, K. of P., in Frankfort.

Rev. E. Wilson, editor of the Universalist Herald at Canon, Ga., is here, a guest of Rev. J. B. Foster. Dr. Wilson will do much of the preaching during the Universalist convention which begins at Consolation church to-day, for a four-days session.

O. A. West and Miss Henrietta Hendrix, of Crofton, were married in Nashville, Tenn., Tuesday. Mr. West is one of the directors of the Bank of Crofton and was for several years a resident of this city. His bride is a daughter of the late Dr. A. A. Hendrix.

The ceremony was said in the Study of the Seventh Street Baptist church, Dr. J. H. Wright officiating. Mr. and Mrs. West returned to Crofton Tuesday night.

Three Owensboro Brides.

Three Owensboro society girls are to be wedded in the near future. Miss Martine McCulloch to Mr. Chas. W. Vilas, of Cleveland, O.; Miss Hattie Belle Fuqua to Dr. W. E. Gardner; and Miss Nora Queen Cruse to Miles P. Mattingly. They are all daughters of prominent citizens.

White-Stockard.

Mr. Albert Barton White of Louisville, will be married Oct. 28, at Atlanta, to Miss Lucy Vaughan Stockard, of that city. Mr. White is a popular young traveling man who formerly represented one of the Louisville paper houses.

Prominent Farmer Dead.

Mr. Dan C. Settle, a prominent farmer, died yesterday, after a long illness, aged 62 years. He is survived by a widow and adopted daughter, Miss Martha McClanahan. Also two sisters and two brothers. Funeral services this morning at 10:30 at the residence near town, conducted by Rev. H. D. Smith, his pastor. Interment at St. Elmo.

Here is an idea.

LITIGANTS COME TO TERMS

Telephone Company Agrees To Buy a County Franchise Oct. 18.

FISCAL COURT ORDERS SALE.

Road Engineer J. H. Dillman Is Appointed For Another Term.

The Fiscal Court held its regular monthly meeting Tuesday with all members present and Judge Knight presiding. The accounts for September were gone over and allowed.

Some of the farmers who did grading on the Lafayette pike, for the contractor, reported that he had not paid their bills, and the road engineer was directed to adjust such as were entitled to a workman's lien without litigation. The court appropriated $50 to continue the girls Canning Club work another year, the County Board of Education having appropriated a like amount to pay the agent in charge.

Judge Knight reappointed J. H. Dillman Road Engineer, his time having expired. Mr. Dillman recently passed a highly satisfactory state examination. His appointment was promptly confirmed.

The court ordered the sale of a telephone franchise for the county presented by the Christian-Todd Telephone Co., having lines throughout the county. The differences between the court and the company have been adjusted. The franchise will be sold Oct. 18. Vice President J. M. B. Hoxsey agreed to the following conditions.

The franchise is for a period of twenty years and gives the purchaser the right to operate telephone wires and fixtures along and over the roads and bridges of the county, subject to the jurisdiction of the fiscal court; the company to repair any damage they may do to roads or bridges.

The rates specified are as follows: For single lines for business or office service, for an air line radius of 1½ miles from central office, $3.50 per month.

For single lines for residence service, of an air line radius of 1½ miles from central office, $2.00 per month. Beyond 1½ miles an additional charge of 30c per month for each quarter or fraction thereof or pole line mileage.

For party lines for business or office service, for an air line radius of 1½ miles, same as for line service within corporate limits, but not more than $3 per month for business or office service or more than $2 for residence service.

Beyond 1½ miles and within 3½ pole line miles of central office, same as duplex or two-party service rates of the exchanges with which the subscribers are connected, but not to exceed $3 per month for business or office service or $2 for residence. Beyond the 3½ mile radius an additional charge of 25c per month for each mile or pole line or fraction thereof will be made.

In addition maximum rates, beyond which the company shall not charge, are fixed as follows, no matter what the length of the line may be:

For 5 party service, $3 per month. For 4 party service, $3.50 per month.

For 3 party service, $3.95 per month.

For 2 party service, $5.20 per month.

For single line service, $7.90 per month.

The subscribers shall be connected with the nearest exchange or given the mileage of such connection.

For lines that may be out of commission the company can make no charge above forty-eight hours.

In Mr. Hoxsey's letter he guarantees for five years to the farmer own-

MR. RENSHAW GROWS WORSE

Mr. John M. Renshaw, shot in the head on Sept. 26, was reported not so well yesterday. He has never fully regained consciousness and has again lapsed into complete unconsciousness. His ear, in which the ball entered, is now discharging pus and he is growing weaker. The hopes are not so bright for his recovery.

ed lines running out of Crofton at a rate of 25c per month per telephone for exchange service.

He further agrees that when the franchise is awarded to his company that the litigation now pending against the county in the telephone matter will be dismissed and the telephone company will pay the court costs of that action and also $500 toward the counsel fees incurred by the county in defending that action.

For a period of three years from the first of the month following the awarding of the franchise to the company Mr. Hoxsey agrees that on party lines the company will charge only 15c per phone per mile in addition to the franchise rate as specified up to a radius of 3½ miles.

The company agrees weather permitting, to begin at once work of putting all of its county lines into good, workmanlike condition, and will vigorously prosecute such work until the completion, weather conditions permitting.

"DRYS" IN HENDERSON

Spend Their Money in Evansville to Spite Business Men.

Evansville, Ind., Oct. 5.—Evansville merchants are to get increased trade from Henderson county with the help of "drys" who were defeated in the option election there Monday.

The business men of the city of Henderson, on the whole, were with the wets, arguing that if Henderson would go dry, the drinkers would go to Evansville to spend their money. Now that the "wets" won a victory, the "drys" say that the same trains that would have carried the "wets" to Evansville to drink, will now carry the "drys" to Evansville to buy their necessities. The farmers, especially, have been making the threat good, it is said.

The October

American Magazine

In the October American Magazine appears a thrilling letter from an American contributor now in Europe entitled "Pity the Women of Europe," in which the point is graphically made that in war time the men get some thrill out of the adventure and the new experience, but the women are left at home to suffer alone and to make the struggle to feed their children, with poverty and high prices staring them in the face.

In the same issue announcement is made of a new series of articles by Ida M. Tarbell, "The Golden Rule in Business: How it Pays in Dollars and Cents, Personal Satisfaction and Human Happiness." Ray Stannard Baker writes entertainingly of a United States representative from California, who is the philosopher of Congress. Walter Pritchard Eaton, the theatrical critic, discusses a new epoch in the movies. "Jerry" Travers, four times amateur golf champion of the United States, tells how to get back on your game.

Fiction is contributed by Maravene Thompson, Majorie Benton Cooke, Phillip Curtis and others, and the Interesting People Department contains five short articles about men and women in various parts of the country who are doing unusual things. Humorous contributions are contributed by five great comic writers: James Montgomery Flagg, Stephen Leacock, George Fitch, Kin Hubbard and Gelett Burgess.

Asserting that they are forced by the current high prices of feed and cows to make slight changes in prices of certified milk and cream, the certified dairymen of Louisville have announced increases. For a quart of milk the charge is now fourteen cents; for a pint of milk seven and one-half cents; for a pint of cream, twenty-two cents; for a half pint of cream, twelve cents; for inspected milk, twelve and one-half cents a pint, a pint seven cents.—Times.

Woman Lawyer Disbarred

Mrs. Helen Tucker, Frankfort's only woman lawyer, was disbarred by Judge Stout in the Franklin Circuit Court today. Mrs. Tucker's husband C. T. Tucker, who has been convicted of violation of the federal laws in the United States District Court, was of the opinion that Mrs. Tucker would be too much under the influence of her husband to be a fit person to practice law.

American Road Congress.

Many southern cities are making preparation to entertain delegates and visitors en route to and from the American Road Congress which convenes in Atlanta during the week of November 9. Chattanooga was the first to tender its hospitality to the Good Roads Congress. The Chamber of Commerce and the Automobile Club of that city united in an invitation to the the good roads

visitors to spend Saturday November 14 in Chattanooga visiting points of historic and scenic interest. Arrangements have been made to provide automobiles to convey the visitors over the historic battlefields of

Cashmaga and Mission Hill and up

Lookout and Signal Mountains. An opportunity will be afforded of inspecting one hundred miles of government boulevard in addition to the splendid streets and roads in Chattanooga and Hamilton County.

For those who travel over land in their automobiles, the members of the Automobile Club will act as pilots and will personally direct them to the principal points of interest to tourists. During their stay in Chattanooga the good roads visitors will be the guests of the city.

There are many of the southern cities rich in historic interest and possessing at the same time many interesting features from the standpoint of the road builder and the engineer, and it is quite probable that thousands of the delegates and visitors to the Road Congress will avail themselves of this opportunity to enjoy the hospitality of cities such as Chattanooga, Savannah, Raleigh,

Charleston, Mobile, Birmingham,

Nashville, Charlotte, and Richmond, on the line of travel to and from Atlanta. To many of the visitors from New England, the Northwestern and the far Western states,

the visit the South will be a new experience. At the headquarters of the Congress in the Colorado

Building in Washington, the list of accredited delegates already includes representation from 40 states and it is freely predicted that this year's

Road Congress will have by far the largest attendance of any public welfare meeting this year.

$10,000 DUROC JERSEY HOG DIES OF INJURY

Versailles, Ky., Oct. 5.—The Duroc Jersey boar Defender 7 years old, considered by many the world's greatest hog of his particular breed owned by McKee brothers, died at Forest Home farm, near here, from an injury received two weeks ago. McKee brothers, two years ago paid $5,000 for Defender, said to be the highest price ever paid for a hog. Within the last month they had refused an offer of $10,000 for him. His life was insured for $1,000. McKee brothers own 200 of Defender's progeny.

How Huxley Chose a Name.

In a letter to Sir Michael Foster, Huxley tells him the derivation of the name of the house—now about to be put up for auction—which he built for himself at Eastbourne. "One is obliged to have names for houses here. Mine will be 'Hodesia', which is as near as I can go to 'Hodesia', the poetical original shape of my very ugly name. There was a noble salon of the House of Huxley who, having burgled and done other wrong things (temp. Henry IV), asked for the benefit of clergy. I expect they gave it to him, not in the way he wanted, but in the way they would like to benefit a later member of the family. Between this gentleman and my grandfather there is unfortunately a complete blank, but I have none the less faith in him as my ancestor."

English Judges Confronted With Problem of Trying Twelve Hundred Similar Cases One by One.

The Gateshead (England) magistrates are confronted with a difficult problem. Twelve hundred and eighteen miners summoned for laying idle the Heworth colliery over a minimum wage dispute have insisted on being tried separately, and, as they adhere to their demand, the bench must comply.

Sitting eight hours a day, and disposing of cases at the rate of one per half-hour, it may hope to get through its work in about twelve weeks' time, if it is lucky and no other cases require attention.

The comedy of the case was added to by the complaint of the prosecuting counsel that the men had magnified their offense by staying away from work that day; but the magistrates pointed out that it could hardly be said that men who were appearing at court to answer summonses taken out by the mine owners were guilty of a further offense by doing so.

In the end the whole of the cases were adjourned for six weeks in the hope that the parties would come to terms.

GOOD SUBSTITUTE FOR STEEL

That Glass Is to Be the Coming Material, Is the Opinion of an Eminent Scientist.

The iron-ore deposits of the world are being rapidly exhausted, and the time is not far distant when we will have to get along without iron, and steel. Before that day arrives some substitute for these valuable things will have to be found, and it has been suggested by a scientist familiar with the subject that the logical successor will be glass.

Glass can be made to meet nearly all the requirements of iron and steel, and with improved methods of manufacture will be a great deal cheaper. There is an abundant supply of the materials from which glass is made, and long before iron reaches the obsolete stage it is more than likely that glass will be one of its strongest competitors.

The chief fault with glass is its brittleness, but it is possible even now to produce a grade of glass which can stand a great deal of hard usage and serve many of the purposes for which iron is employed. The progress of invention is bound to evolve a quality of glass which will be as strong and durable as iron and transparent as well.

WRITING WAS UNDIGNIFIED.

The production of Lady Randolph Churchill's play, "The Bill," illustrates once more the change in the estimation of authors and authoresses. A century ago to be "literary" in public spelled social disaster. When Lady Scott, for instance, published her novel, "Trevelyan," in 1833, it was remarked that "of course nobody from London would call on her now." This was a view typical of the period. Now even butlers write poems.—London Express.

ONLY WANTED TO BE MILKED

"Holdup" of Auto by Cow Was Settled to the Satisfaction of All Concerned.

The best way to get rid of an obstinate cow that plants herself across the highway and will not permit an automobile to pass is to stop and milk the cow, according to Carroll Horton of Okmulgee, Okla., who is visiting his father, former Supreme Court Justice Horton, here.

Young Horton was a member of an automobile party speeding toward Newfield when the road was blocked near that village by a large Jersey cow, which had sprawled across the road. The cow refused to heed either horn or claxonette, and not wishing to run into the ditch the automobile party stopped.

All efforts to get the Jersey out of the way failed until Horton alighted, called, "Here, bossy, here, bossy," took off his Panama hat, and proceeded to milk the cow. When he had finished the milking the cow agreeably walked off the road and the party proceeded with a bountiful supply of milk.—Ithaca (N. Y.) Dispatch to New York Herald.

TO TAKE A SUMMER COLD

Recipe That is Guaranteed Not to Fail Given for Those Who May Have So Far Escaped.

It is not always the easiest thing to catch a summer cold. It often takes time and thought and proper exertion. You must be patient. Above all, never give up hope. Just when you think you are not going to get one it will come along and seize you.

There are many recipes for catching a summer cold, which are doubtless familiar to the highly intelligent reader. We shall not give them. In their place we shall simply present a few general directions.

The first requisite is to get thoroughly exhausted. To do this it is better to select some unusual thing. When you have indulged yourself in this until you are tired out then eat as much as you can of strange food to which your stomach has heretofore been a stranger. This ought to bring on a summer cold within a reasonable time. If it doesn't it will be because you don't know enough to have one.—Life.

THE TWO HALVES.

The late Jacob A. Riis, author of "How the Other Half Lives," was greatly distressed by what he believed to be the immodesty of the 1914 fashions for women.

Mr. Riis, discussing these fashions with a woman fashion writer of New York, said one day:

"I love to visit the slums. There, some people declare, I find nothing but the Great Unwashed. I always tell such people that when I visit, on the other hand, the opera or the fashionable restaurants, I find nothing but the Great Undressed."

SUMMER COMFORT.

One need never be bothered with mosquitoes, gnats or flies out of doors if oil of lavender is used. It will positively keep away the winged pests, and 25 cents' worth will last all summer. Touch the arms, face, neck and ankles above the low shoes with the moistened cork occasionally and not a mosquito, fly or gnat will approach.

PART OF THE MENAGERIE.

"I don't think that Mr. Elington ever declines an invitation to dinner."

"Oh, no; he's a sort of social lion, seeking what he may devour."—Boston Transcript.

EASILY PROCURED.

"James, them Comeups have no more money than what we got, and they say we ain't got no prestige."

"Well, you go out tomorrow, Maria, and jest order all of it you want."

DEFINED.

"What is 'innate wisdom'?"

"It's knowing all the little meannesses of your neighbor before the town gossip or a real estate deal puts you wise."—Judge.

BIG TREES.

"Some of those California red-woods are forty feet in diameter."

"Great place for a battle. Fellow could feel safe behind one of those trees."

CAPT. PAYNE BURIED TO-DAY

Veteran of Spanish War And Native of Hopkinsville Passes Away.

Capt. Robert C. Payne died in a hospital at Jackson, Tenn., Tuesday, after a long period of failing health. He was 40 years old and a native of this city. He was the oldest son of the late L. P. Payne and a brother of Mrs. Cora Payne Dalton and Gabe A. Payne and Louis Payne.

Capt. Payne was a veteran of the Spanish American war and commanded a company of U. S. Volunteers in the Philippines. He left here about 10 years ago to enter the service of the I. C. Railroad and became a conductor, which position he held until his health failed.

GREAT WORDLESS PLAY COMING HERE

"Solomon and the Queen of Sheba" is Feature of Ringling Bros. Big Circus.

HUNDREDS OF ACTORS IN CAST

Around the glory of Solomon and the beauty of Balkis Ringling Brothers have this season built the most magnificent spectacle ever traveled under their management. Solomon and the Queen of Sheba is the name given this tremendous production. It won the plaudits of Chicago during the five weeks that the circus exhibited in that city, and it is to be presented here on Wednesday, October 21, without charge or curtain.

A cast of 1,250 characters, 300 dancing girls, hundreds of horses and camels, 90 musicians, a chorus of 1,000 voices and a great cathedral organ are used to tell the story of a period ten centuries before the Christian era. The presentation is historically correct. The costumes, armor, vehicles and gorgeous trappings have been reproduced after Biblical descriptions. The best scenic artists and craftsmen in Italy have reconstructed the palaces, the temple, the great judgment hall, the streets and the gates of Jerusalem. The action reveals a succession of scenes of such pomp and splendor as to fairly dazzle the beholder. The stage upon which this great wordless play is enacted is the largest ever constructed and takes up one entire side of the circus main tent. It is fitted with apparatus which makes possible the finest of electrical effects. Fifty men are required to handle the scenery and mechanical attachments.

"Solomon and the Queen of Sheba" is produced under the personal direction of Al. Ringling, assisted by a corps of stage managers headed by Oskar Barlik, ballet master from the Metropolitan Grand Opera House. The spectacle is made a part of the circus program and opens the afternoon and evening performance. Its pageants are marvels of brilliancy and the processions presented when Solomon and Sheba's queen vie with one another in their contest for supremacy in riches, are said to be the most remarkable displays of their kind ever seen in America.—Advertisement.

The registration Tuesday was unusually heavy, running up to near 2100. The voters were evidently in a humor for going to the polls and it was not necessary to do much active work. Both parties, however, had an organization to jog up the late comers. The city precincts are shown below, both as to color and politics.

WAR HARD ON PRINTERS

Forced to Pay More Both For Paper and Ink—War Causes Increase In Supplies.

On the war in Europe is blamed every advance in price of all sorts of goods, from sugar, to hardware. The big struggle covers a multitude of sins, but in some cases it actually is responsible for certain increases in cost, even on goods manufactured in the United States.

This is true as far as paper, cardboard, envelopes and ink, and other supplies used by printers lithographers and steel die and copper plate engravers are concerned, although such an increase in two months' time hardly could have been anticipated. At any rate, the printers have announced increases in their prices because the jobber is charging them more for their stock.

Much of the raw material used in the manufacture of paper comes from Europe, and it is alleged that this cannot be shipped, although boats are running daily. However, the war risk insurance is given as one reason for higher freight rates and advance in price.

The United States, too, is dependent upon Germany for coal tar dyes and other coloring matters used in inks, and it is said that if the war continues for several years colored inks must be abandoned altogether. Many other items too are imported, and prices in some instances, the printers say, are double what they were before August. While in some cases a fairly good stock is carried by paper mills and paper jobbers, in the majority of cases the price of paper has been advanced fully 10 per cent.—Exchange.

THROWN BY A PONY

Sustaining A Fracture Of The Skull.

Joe Williams, a nine-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Williams, of rear Pembroke, was thrown from a pony while returning from school Monday afternoon. He was riding behind Marion Garnett, the seven-year-old son of Mr. Holland Garnett, when a rider on a bicycle came up behind the pony and caused him to throw both children. Marion escaped unhurt but Joe suffered a fracture of the skull, which did not become apparent until the boys reached Mr. Garnett's. He was brought to the Jennie Stuart Hospital the same night and operated upon. He is now doing nicely and will soon be up.

Armstrong Sentenced.

Otho Armstrong, well known young white man of this city, was yesterday tried in circuit court on a charge of breaking into and robbing a railroad car on the L. & N. at Mort's Gap a few months ago and the jury, after being out but a few minutes, returned a verdict of guilty and fixed his punishment at from 3 to 5 years in the penitentiary. Armstrong was only recently captured at Birmingham, Ala. At the last term of court the jury hung in his case. Later, he, together with twelve prisoners, escaped from the county jail and he was at large for some time. This was his second escape from the county jail.—Hustler.

madly home, the firing came nearer and nearer, and it was not very long until it was all around town. If you remember, the fine old Leavell place had large grounds, covered with shrubbery. The escaping soldiers hid in, and dodged around these, when, hearing the noise in the yard, we looked out of the window just as a bullet whizzed past and struck a tree near by. We could hear the blows, and curses, and shouts, and yells, making night hideous. Next morning we found a splintered gun in the grounds, that had been broken over some poor fellow's head.

Soon after daylight, soldiers came to search the house. We were hardly allowed time to drape bed clothes around us, before they came to search every nook and corner, large enough for a child to hide in. They even rammed their bayonets through the mattresses. Mrs. Leavell was ordered to prepare breakfast for forty soldiers. They made themselves thoroughly at home over the house, lounging and sprawling, smoking and chewing.

Mrs. Leavell tied spoons and ladles and other silverware to the inside of our hoopskirts, we were afraid to walk lest the soldiers would hear the tinkle of the silver.

Servants were sent to bring a morning dress from the college for me; but the pickets would not allow them to cross the street, so I had to borrow one from the family. I was short and plump, they were all tall and slim, so I had a trail front and back, while the shortage in the waist, was covered with handkerchiefs pinned across. It was nearly a week before I was permitted to go home, and it was only across the street.

A week or two later, we received a letter directed to the "Misses Keen and Leavell." It was from Lieut. Chinn telling us of his escape. He said he hid in a thicket, with soldiers all around him, that he "never before was in a circle, the circumference of which was so 'blue,' but he had reached his company safely, without being hurt. We were puzzled to understand how that drop letter got into our postoffice; afterward we heard of a soldier, who had escaped in woman's clothing, and thought it might have been our escort, he was so delicate looking he could easily be taken for a woman.

Mr. Gano Henry owned and occupied the home, adjoining the college property. Mrs. Henry's queenly, beautiful sister, Mollie Davis, who lived with her, issued invitations for a fancy dress party to be given the 4th of April, 1865. For two weeks we lived in happy anticipation of the party. On the 3rd came news of the evacuation of Richmond. Both hostess and guests would have preferred to call the party off, but I feared the consequences. On the morning of the 4th, orders were sent to all Southern sympathizers, that their homes must be illuminated that night, in celebration of the downfall of Richmond. Any one failing to obey these orders would be arrested and imprisoned. Our Union friends would have spared us this if they could.

Three different Military Orders were sent my father that day, that he must have a candle in every window of the college that night. My bedroom was a front corner room on the second floor. The room over the front door on the same floor was my private parlor. I locked the parlor door and hid the key. When my father came to illuminate my windows, I told him he would have to wait until I had gone to the party. When he was out of the way, I joined my escort, who was waiting for me in the school parlor on the first floor, taking my key with me. As soon as I reached Mr. Henry's, the officers, who were there, came to me for an explanation of the dark windows at the college, when their orders had been for each window to be illuminated. I told them those were the windows to my rooms and they could not be illuminated for such a cause, that my father had tried to comply with their orders, but I had locked the doors and hidden the keys, so they would have to arrest me, I knew the penalty. They assured me I would have to suffer the penalty; seemingly I was very brave; but for days I was terror stricken, when I saw a soldier coming towards the college, for fear he was to be my escort to the guard house.

We went to the party with heavy hearts, but youth does not keep

Clark's Big Market House

WE have so many people to tell us that they are surprised to see such an enormous stock of China, Cut Glass, Ivory, Aluminum Ware, Granite Ware, Silver Ware etc., in a grocery store. Then we have others to tell us that it seems the Books and Stationery should be in a book store.

Answer to 1st Question.

When we opened up our big store it was with the intention of handling even larger varieties than we now handle. We are catering to thousands of people. Some forty thousand in Christian county and then something like 60 thousand in adjoining counties, making one hundred thousand people that come to our store to trade.

Answer to 2nd Question.

We look over the books 2 years ago and just ask the thousands of people we have sold to if they are satisfied. There never was such a hard time to get books and on account of the book dealers in some of the adjacent counties not handling them it has kept us rushing to fill orders, also the book companies have been behind in making them. It won't be but short time now until we can fill all orders as fast as they come in. We want to say also that we have never refused to exchange a book according to the law governing exchange.

company very long with grief, and we had a grand time. Mary Phelps I represented the "War of the Roses." Mary was beautiful in the midst of her white roses, while I was a blooming blossom with my red ones. A cousin of our hostess, from Louisville, was "Queen of Hearts" and Capt. Ned Campbell was "King of Hearts." He dressed in a room over Hopper's dry goods store, across from the court house. When he appeared on the street in his velvet suit covered with red hearts, the small boys collected and gained numbers as they went, cheering and teasing him, until he reached Mr. Henry's, hot and indignant. I suppose you still have the irrepressible small boy with you? I wish I could tell you of the Peasants, and Shepherdesses, and Court Dames, and Courtiers, and others who were there, they form a lovely picture, hanging on the wall of my memory's picture gallery.

I hope you will not think it out of place to tell you of a call, I had last week, from a friend, who had a relative from Milwaukee with her. I spoke of my anticipated visit to Hopkinsville. This lady said, "I am so glad to meet some one from Hopkinsville, I went to boarding school with a beautiful girl from there, that I was so fond of, do tell me what has become of her, she was named Mollie Davis." It seemed a strange coincidence, to be asked this, at a time when I was recalling those old days.

We were so far from the railroads, amusement companies seldom came to Hopkinsville, so we had to furnish our own entertainments. Tableaux were popular. For weeks we studied scenes, arranged costumes, and rehearsed. We frequently had them for the benefit of the college, with the stage at the end of the Assembly room. Once there was a scene of "Johnny Going to the Fair." There was needed to be worn what you now call a dress coat, then they were called "Jay tailed" coats; my father always had worn that style coat in the pulpit, and had two of them and he gladly loaned them to us. They disappeared the night of the final performance, and he never wore that style coat again, nor did he ever lend us his clothing again. Whenever our scenes required an angel to be suspended in the air, fairy like, little Lilly Waller was the angel.

In the summer of 1866 Mr. Alexander came from the South, to be associated with my father in the school, and keep the boarding department. After the spring term of 1867, my father retired from the presidency or the college, the church requiring all of his time. Mr. Alexander succeeded him as president of the college.

I wish very much I could tell you something of the progress of the school during these years. Though I assisted in the school duties whenever I was needed, I thought more of my happy social pleasures than I did of the school.

Young people, if you want to have real good times, you will have to go back to the pleasures of your grandmothers. I feel that I have come to you today, as the representative of my dear parents: they loved your college, they loved your people, they loved you. They are now sleeping their last peaceful sleep, in your beautiful cemetery, surrounded by so many they loved in life; and in a few short years I too will be.

"Laid side by side with those I love,
How calm that rest will be,
Laid side by side with those I love.

How soft that sleep will be.
We shall share our Heavenly gladness
Each with the other then."

Preachers In Bad.

The Rev. Mose Simpson, who assisted in the conducting a series of services at the courthouse in Somerset, was tried on a charge of false swearing and given two to five years in the penitentiary in Pulaski county. He had a woman he claimed to be his wife with him, and in a case in the Police Court he swore she was his wife. Later they went to Monticello and were married, and it developed that she had a husband and children and had never been divorced. She had been in jail here awaiting action of the grand jury. As the marriage was performed in Wayne county this grand jury did not return an indictment against her, but the Wayne county grand jury will likely do so.

The Rev. J. E. Delk was tried twice at the same term of the court for using abusive language, and there was a hung jury in each trial. He will be tried again at the next term of the court.
